

---

Speaker at your school for the Black History Month

Posted by educhesne - 2009/02/09 11:40

---

Dear Educators,

The Black History Month just started and we think it will be a great opportunity for your school to invite one of our speakers to talk to your students about Nelson Mandela's Life, about social justice, equity and about our school-based program. There are no fees involved and we always try to have interactive activities.

"Black History Month is an opportunity to recognize the past and present contributions of African Canadians, but also to celebrate African Heroes like Nelson Mandela," comments Ms. Diane O'Reggio, CEO of NMCF (Canada).

If you are interesting in welcoming one of our speakers, please let me know as soon as possible at educhesne@mandela-children.ca.

Thank for you cooperation and have a good Black History Month!

Sincerely

Eve Duchesne
Program Outreach and Development Officer

=====